LONGMONT, COLORADO—August 27, 2017 -- Glacier View Landscape & Design Inc., a residential and commercial landscaping contractor, has announced that Dave White, Owner of Glacier View is featured throughout the “Smart Stream Building” article starting on page 28 through page 31 in the July, 2017 issue of Landscape Contractor Magazine.

The feature may be accessed via our layout or at the following link: <http://landscapecontractor.epubxp.com/i/847465-jul-2017/27> — The article “Smart Stream Building” begins on page 28. The “Smart Stream Building” article focuses on creating water features and provides experiences and tips from landscape professionals:

Dave White and his crew at Glacier View Landscape & Design Inc. of Longmont, Colorado dug, by hand, a pond that is 12” to 16” deep, a 6’-wide, 5’-long, 4’-deep hole for an underground well that collects the water and a stream - to get it below grade. “We did that so it was a little more natural-looking and set down into the slope as opposed to being build-up on both sides,” White says.
